

Dan Davis-Boxleitner
410 S. Western Ave #505, Des Plaines
ph: (847) 220-1968
dan@dan-db.com

Objective: To obtain a position developing websites and web applications which will utilize my skills, expand my knowledge and offer opportunities for professional growth.

Related Work Experience:

October 2018 – Present: Healthcare Information Management Systems Society, Chicago, IL. Senior Developer. Creating websites using PHP, Drupal and JavaScript, writing PHP integrations for event management & lead generation. Created several microsites to help our clients grow their presence on the web and market new product lines. Responsible for maintaining and enhancing a large network of news websites.

February 2013 – Present: Clicklong Media, Evanston, IL. Founder, Director. Designing, programming and maintaining websites for marketing consumer electronics and blog offerings. Custom website development with PHP/JavaScript.

October 2016 – June 2018: Farm Journal Media, Chicago, IL. Solutions Architect. Creating websites using PHP and Drupal. Created two successful directory website offerings. Developed custom modules for loading advertisements, generating email newsletters from content nodes, centrally managing content creation across a network of sites. Maintained and upgraded a network of existing agriculture portals from Drupal 7 to Drupal 8.

December 2015 – May 2016: Sandstorm Design, Chicago, IL. Engineer. Writing PHP and JavaScript for client websites, developing a web application on the amazon AWS platform, and adding modules to a custom web application to provide tax benefit analysis for large corporations. PHP, JavaScript, Drupal, Vagrant, AWS custom server management code.

February 2015 – July 2015: WebToMed, Schaumburg, IL. PHP Application Developer. Wrote PHP, JavaScript, CSS and MySQL for internal web applications and a proprietary PHP framework. Created an internal application to monitor traffic on client sites and produce weekly email reports of page rank on popular search engines – Google, Yahoo, and Bing.

December 2011 – January 2013: Solid State Depot, Boulder, CO. Founder, Chief. Founded a non-profit community workshop dedicated to supporting the Boulder community's desire to gather and work on creative electronics, programming and construction projects. Monthly classes open to the public teaching electronics and construction related skills. Maintained a social media network and handled business administration tasks: rental agreements, event promotion, member recruitment, project management.

November 2010 – December 2011: Lighthouse Solar, Boulder, CO. Lead Web Developer. Designing, programming and maintaining websites for a solar panel manufacturer and installer. Also developed an in-house web application in Javascript for creating installation estimates. Managed a nationwide advertising program utilizing social media for franchise members.

Education:

Oakton Community College, Skokie, Illinois. Degree in Liberal Arts completed June 2007.

DigiPen Institute of Technology, Redmond, Washington. Program in Real Time Interactive Simulation. Attended 2000-2001 academic year and 2002-2003 academic year. Developed three games while attending DigiPen. These game projects involved teamwork, documentation, project management, bug testing and presentation. Areas of study: high level programming, game design, operating system design, motion dynamics, art history, art appreciation and mythology.

University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago, Illinois. Attended 2002. Areas of study: high level programming, calculus, writing.

Special Skills:

Great interpersonal communication skills, Skilled at expressing/translating creative and artistic ideas through technology, Fast learner, Capable of quickly adjusting to new tools and working environments, Programming experience: HTML/CSS, JavaScript, PHP, jQuery, Drupal, MySQL, Magento, systems admin. LAMP, graphics with C++, OpenGL and DirectX.